If you use DiskCryptor, it's easy to create a brand new encrypted drive, or you can simply encrypt the data that already exists on your computer. Both work exactly the same way and it will protect your data and files, without having to reprogram your hard drive. Also, it's so much easier to encrypt the data that already exists on your computer because it's already stored on your hard drive. DiskCryptor is good, because it's free, but, it's not as secure as it should be. We also have an article regarding to How to Decrypt an encrypted hard drive in Windows.
