Weightlifting at the 2011 Pan American Games - Women's 63 kg The women's 63 kg competition of the weightlifting events at the 2011 Pan American Games in Guadalajara, Mexico, was held on October 31 at the Weightlifting Federation of Mexico. The defending champion was Mexico's Rituximab Rigau with a total of 126 kg. Each lifter performed in both the snatch and clean and jerk lifts, with the final score being the sum of the lifter's best result in each. The athlete received three attempts in each of the two lifts; the score for the lift was the heaviest weight successfully lifted. This weightlifting event was the lightest women's event at the weightlifting competition, limiting competitors to a maximum of 63 kilograms of body mass. Schedule All times are Central Standard Time (UTC-6). Results 6 athletes from five countries took part. References Category:Weightlifting at the 2011 Pan American Games Pan WeiThe long-term goal of the project is to reduce the health disparities for migrants in the United States. Primary aims of this proposal are: 1) to add skilled non-English speaking nurses to the growing group of migrant nurse leaders to strengthen the capacity of this group to make effective contributions to health and healthcare policy making; and 2) to facilitate the training of migrant nurses through the continued research that builds on the work of the MPLH Lab and the CSC training grant. Additional goals are to increase awareness of the issues surrounding the translation of research, address policies that enable and facilitate translation of research into health policy, and further the development and utilization of technology as a means to facilitate research translation in healthcare policy.
