Q: Worker inside Route, does not get variables passed from URL Does anybody know why this code isn't working? I have a function that runs when I navigate to one of my routes. In this function, I put my worker into the worker pool, and I pass in arguments from the URL that the user navigated to.

this.router.events.subscribe(async (ctx) => { if (ctx.url === '/myRoute') { this.worker = this.getWorker(); const userId = document.querySelector('#userId').value; const amount = document.querySelector('#amount').value; const expiry = document.querySelector('#expiry').value; this.worker.addWorker(userId, amount, expiry); } }); I can't seem to access the variables that I pass in, outside of the worker. export class WorkerController { constructor( private router: Router ) { } getWorker(): Worker { return new Worker(url.parse(window.location.href).query.userId, url.parse(window.location.href).query.amount, url.parse(window.location.href).query.expiry ); }
